Bystander Intervention in the Workplace

Anti-harassment and diversity & inclusion training are only part of the process to achieving a respectful workplace environment. Active bystanders, or people who take action when they hear or see an issue, have immense power to change what happens next in a workplace situation. A key point of our Bystander Intervention in the Workplace training is to provide employees with strategies and tools they can use to have a positive impact on workplace culture and prevent incidents from rising to the level of harassment.
